

Every non-profit is different.

About Me,

After studying Literature at Ave Maria University, I returned to Bucks County and pursued a career in Sales and Marketing, starting with a year-long door-to-door gig with Verizon. This was followed by a career lasting nearly a decade with Comcast Business Internet/VoIP Sales performing outbound calls, managing and upselling existing accounts for small/medium-sized businesses, overseeing website operations, and eventually training new hires on systems and best practices as part of the company's mentor program. Year after year, I maintained my status as an elite salesperson, routinely making the top 25% "warm leads" teams, and pioneering new programs and technology.

Seeking to amalgamate both my lifelong passion for writing and my sales talents, I launched my own company, NPO Grant Writing, in early 2024.
